

Hello!

I am Mrs. Daphne Keller. I'm a certified English and French teacher, and I have taught writing and composition at both the high school and college levels. Right now I'm a graduate student at Monmouth University, where I'm finishing up a Master's degree in English Literature. I also work at Monmouth's Writing Center as a Writing Assistant, helping other students with their work. I have edited works of fiction, reference books, and both of Mr. Keller's books, although I admit I didn't check all his math.

For the class of 2017, I will have a limited number of slots available for students who would like some help writing their college application essays. Whether you just need to polish up a completed draft, or whether you are still chewing the end of your pencil, wondering where to begin, I can help.

To read my general philosophy about helping students with college essays, please click here.

To read samples of my own writing, visit my blog, The Born Again English Major.

You can reach me at (732) 530-3471 or by email at dcmkeller@gmail.com.

BACK TO K & W HOME